What is biofrequency?

The use of frequencies for both diagnostic purposes and pain management have been around in medicine for over 100 years in the forms of x-ray, MRI, ultrasound as well microcurrent and TENS machines for pain. Our understanding of frequencies and how they help with inflammation and pain is constantly expanding.

In 1992 Bruce Taino of Taino technologies, Washington developed a machine he called a calibrated frequency monitor to measure the bodies frequencies. He found a healthy body had a frequency range between 62-78Hz and disease processes started at 58Hz. Health and immunity dissipate as if this frequency drops. It is known by researchers that if the frequency drops to

- 58hz – cold and flu symptoms appear
- 55hz – candida and like appear
- 52hz – Epstein Barr Virus
- 42hz – cancer

Hence maintaining high frequencies in the body are essential to long term health.

What are Quanta Patches? How do they work?

Quanta patches provide a safe drug and chemical free solution to your pain and health management. The patch works by increasing the bodies voltage (frequency) through a process called sympathetic resonance. When the charged patch attaches to the skin the body's heat activates the patch and the frequencies discharge to the nervous system over a 3-day period. It is through the process of sympathetic resonance the body resonates with the frequencies being discharged and elevates its own energy, cellular communication and physiological processes to effect positive change in the body. Another way to understand this is to think of the patches like jump starting a car, once the patch jump starts your nervous system the body learns to maintain that frequency in the body.

The Quanta patch is a 1" round patch programmed with sub-harmonic frequencies of known therapeutic substances. The patch comprises of an FDA approved antimicrobial adhesive backing and a Mylar top layer interwoven with carbon and crystalline structures. It is this interwoven structure that is charged with frequency in a patent pending process.

Your Quanta trained therapist understands your body and which patches will achieve the greatest results for you. The patches are placed precisely on the body to maximise pain reduction and restore function to a weak area of the body. Your therapist may also place patches more systemically over organs, lymphatic areas, digestive tract or major arteries to enhance your body's overall vitality and normalise its functions.

The Patches

The scope of treatment with Quanta Patches is broad. Your therapist will choose appropriately from 6 categories with a total of 65 patches available designed to address specific body systems and conditions.

- Pain & repair
- Hormonal
- Systemic support
- Detoxification
- Immune support
- Mind emotion

How long do the patches last?

The patches are designed to last 3 days. However, for people suffering chronic conditions, the body may actually drain the energy from the patch in less time.

How many treatments will I require to improve my condition?

Many factors affect your ability to improve your health & conditions. For example: age, body condition, lifestyle factors – food, water, toxin intake, stress & trauma. You also need to consider how long the condition has been in existence. All chronic health conditions will recover faster if you incorporate good lifestyle choices, supplementation and dietary advice with your patch protocols. A consistent approach is the key to success.

For musculoskeletal issues, the same principles apply. The better resourced your body is, the faster your recovery. Your Quanta therapist will be able to give you a clear estimate of recovery times once they have taken a full history of your health and presenting conditions.

Are there any contraindications to using the patches?

The patches contain no chemical or organic substances. Therefore, there are no known contraindications. However, we do not advise use during pregnancy. Although the adhesive is an FDA approved antimicrobial product we have seen some individuals with hyper-sensitive skin experience mild skin irritation from the adhesive.

Sometimes the body will experience some effects of detoxification as the patches clear systemic inflammation and restore function. These symptoms may include: general malaise, cold/flu like symptoms, headaches, sweating, nausea.

Are the patches affected by other electrical devices?

The patches are not affected by airport scanners, WIFI, infra-red or cryo saunas, heat sources, mobile phones etc. Only MRI machines are contraindicated. We do not recommend use during x-rays because it will affect the images.
